

Coaching and Support for Projects

For companies, where process management has already been established and optimization processes have been implemented, we offer regular consultation with our consultant, who assists with the delivery of projects, focused on process management and the improvement of processes. It usually involves regular meetings with our consultants in the range of about 2 hours for a project with a frequency of about one month. In one day, our Master Black Belt coach can deal with 3 to 5 projects. It is one of the best investments with the highest ROI (return on investment).

It's shown that with project coaching, the speed of delivery of the project is higher by 30 %.

Typical cases

- You want to be sure that the first projects will be successful and deliver the expected benefits in a given time.
- Last projects Lean Six Sigma ended in failure and you want to avoid the same in the future.
- You have just been trained to Lean Six Sigma methodology and need support on the first project.
- You don't have the internal capacity and skills to provide project support.

Benefits

- ROI – return on investment (money, time, human resources ...).
- Provably higher and faster delivery of projects.
- Higher financial benefits of the project.
- Motivation for project leaders, the possibility of consultations with experts.
- Delivery projects in the required time.
- Testing Green Belts, Black Belts, preparation for certification.
- Increasing knowledge, performance of special tools.

We support you
by ...

- Regular meeting with project leaders.
- Support for facilitation of complex workshops.
- Introduction of advanced techniques of process improvement.
- Support in process and data analysis.
- Evaluation during the project and proposals for next steps.
- Preparation for certification and tests.
- Development plans for process improvement teams.